Empathy ~ The Cornerstone of Emotional Intelligence

Empathy skills can be improved through training with great benefit to your organization. According to Businessolver's 2017 Workplace Empathy Monitor, empathy has a direct impact on employee productivity, loyalty, and engagement.

- 77% of workers would be willing to work more hours for a more empathetic workplace; meanwhile, 60% would actually accept a slashed salary for the same.
- 92% of HR professionals note that a compassionate workplace is a major factor for employee retention.
- 80% of Millennials & 66% of Baby Boomers noted they would leave their current job if their office became less empathetic. .

Bringing relationship enhancing empathetic skills and learning into the workplace provides meaningful, concrete returns. Connecting coworkers helps sustain thriving company that's built for the long term.
